And so, this is Christmas...

It's beginning to look a lot like Christmas, and now more than ever, we look to the nostalgia of holidays past when we decorate for our future memories. This year we have wished to welcome the warm and comforting colours that nature provides, add new versions of our most treasured childhood ornaments, and give in to our sweet tooth.

Whether you want to fill your home with childhood friends, old family members or new neighbourhood acquaintances, we have ensured that you can decorate with ease, light up with joy and sprinkle calming touches of warm colours wherever you see fit.

We love how your grandmother's nativity scene, your father's old snow globes and the homemade decorations from your kids can be intermixed with our beautiful paper fruits, bonbons in glass, and delicate, beaded sweets. True to tradition, we have stocked up on festive trinkets and handmade treasures to make your home sparkle with heartwarming cheer, just as we have filled every candle holder with lights in subtle candy colours, muted nudes and a glossy red.

We wish you a merry Christmas
- and a happy, homely holiday.

Christmas Ornaments

Joy to the world

Pulp is our pride and joy. A collection of handmade ornaments imbued with personal touches and social consciousness. All styles are fashioned from Katran; a 100% bio-degradable material made from upcycled cotton fabric waste. Each item is lovingly shaped and painted by hand, and the hero piece, our shining star, comes with a magnetic lining that interlocks around the top of your tree.

All I want for Christmas

Did you ever notice that the small things matter the most during Christmas? When your favourite holiday tune comes on the radio, the smell of warm vin chaud on a cold day, or when you get to lick the bowl after frosting the gingerbread?

This season, we have focused on handmade ornaments that look as pretty when piled on the tree as when hung exquisitely on a single pine branch. We love the candy-striped sweets in mouth-blown and hand-painted glass and the cute, beaded bonbons in delicious shades of fudge, dusty green and crimson red.

Deck the Halls

Every year we search for the perfect Christmas tree to enter our home.

But why not seek the perfect rug to fit the tree and accompanying presents while you're at it? The handwoven Anina Round Rug is made from seagrass, and it comes in two delightful versions - one with dark rims and one with natural edges. And because of its versatile style and demure colour, it can fit as the perfect rug for your home office or playroom once the tree is down, and your every day is fresh with promises for the new year.

Christmas time - mistletoe and wine

Setting the table is never more special than during the holidays when you have proper time to reminisce about old memories, listen to your favourite carols, nibble on cookies and drink cinnamon tea. All while putting out your new embroidered table runners and matching napkins filled with motifs of scandi-cute treats, holly, and pleated Christmas hearts.

The background features a dark red field on the left and bottom, and a light pink field on the right and top. A curved, light pink shape is positioned in the upper left, and a dark red diagonal band runs from the bottom left towards the top right.

Candles

Baby, it's cold outside

Nothing signals Danish 'hygge' more than a lit candle during the cold winter nights. And no one knows how to make your lights shine bright as we do at Broste Copenhagen. This season we've added twisted lacquer candles in crimson and taupe, two-tone advent candles in rose and red, decorative candle sculptures in three matching shades, and of course, high gloss candles specially made for the tree.
